If You Can't Decide Among All These Finishes, Try This Handy Decision-Making Device.

The point is this: the semi-automatic Desert Eagle Pistol is available in a wide variety of beautiful finishes. And no matter which finish you choose, the Desert Eagle gives you the unparalleled stopping power that has made this gun famous.

In .357, .41, .44 or .50 Magnum, the Desert Eagle packs awesome firepower while being comfortable to shoot and easy to control.

Ask your dealer about the Desert Eagle Pistol, its many finishes and other options, and the informative (and fun) Desert Eagle video.

You can order the VHS-format video, the hit of recent gun shows, directly from Magnum Research for $12.95 (plus $1.00 postage and handling).

The Desert Eagle Pistol. Smart looking, smart shooting.

MORE POWER TO YOU.

The Desert Eagle family has expanded with two powerful new pistols. First: the semi-auto "Baby Eagle" in 9 mm, .40 S & W and .41 AE. This new high-capacity Desert Eagle is an excellent choice for recreation, self-defense and law enforcement.

But the Baby Eagle isn't the only new kid on the block. The semi-auto .50 Magnum Desert Eagle, officially called the .50 AE, delivers an unforgettable fireball — and about 60% more stopping power than its .44 Magnum brother. Yet felt recoil increases only slightly, as a result of gas operation and the distribution of weight toward the front end of the pistol.

Of course, the Desert Eagle is still very impressive in .357, .41 and .44 Magnum. The three original calibers, the new Baby Eagle and the new .50 Magnum are available from selected dealers.

Feel the power. Shoot the Desert Eagle Pistol.

The new Baby Eagle, shown here in 9 mm, is also available in .40 S & W and .41 AE.
